Summary

I've been a freelancer for last 6+ years and have done several kinds of projects. Most of them have been for early stage startups or internal management tools and recently I joined a startup in hyper local grocery delivery genre.

I've been a Laravel Framework developer from last 3 years and have worked on many other technologies like AngularJS, MongoDB, a bit of Python and a bit tweaking in almost all sorts of languages. The kind of jobs that I have done in past 5 years have grown my skills so that languages doesn't matter to me anymore. I pretty much can work on anything.
